

Guidelines for Podcasters and Media Outlets Interested in Interviewing Dr. Paul or DeeDee

Questions to Ask Dr. Paul

1. Why did you write VAX FACTS?
2. What makes VAX FACTS different from your other book, The Vaccine-Friendly Plan?
3. How are you different from other pediatricians?
4. Dr. Paul, how can you be right, while so many of your colleagues seem to be wrong on the vaccine issue?
5. What is your core philosophy on vaccines, informed consent, and mandates?
6. Can you share more about your published research and why it was retracted?
7. Why is the chapter on SIDS (Sudden Infant Death Syndrome) so important?
8. What have you found regarding the risk of death from vaccines compared to the risk of death from the diseases they are meant to prevent?
9. Aren't you worried society will regress if everyone stops vaccinating?
10. How do you respond to those who claim that unvaccinated children benefit from the protection provided by vaccinated children?
11. Is it not our responsibility to protect society's most vulnerable, like cancer patients and the immunocompromised, by getting vaccinated?
12. What was most surprising when you looked at the vaccinated vs. unvaccinated studies?
 - o (Answer: The massive number of medical conditions caused by vaccines, including more infections, and the relatively better health and lack of infections in the unvaccinated.)
13. How do you address the argument that "association does not mean causation"?
14. What would you do today if you were a new parent deciding on vaccines?

Questions to Ask DeeDee Hoover (Just a Mom)

1. Why are you so passionate about the vaccine topic?
2. What is the most important takeaway you hope readers get from this book?
3. What have you found to be most helpful when coaching others on communication issues?
4. What would you do differently today regarding vaccinating your son, and why?
5. Who should read VAXFACTS?
6. Do you have a message you want to share with all parents—and adults, for that matter?